Sponsorship Opportunities:

2019 Health and Humanitarian Logistics Conference

July 10-11 2019 • Kigali, Rwanda

The 11th annual Conference on Health and Humanitarian Logistics (HHL) is co-organized by the Georgia Tech Center for Health and Humanitarian Systems, NC State, INSEAD Humanitarian Research Group, MIT Humanitarian Response Lab, and Northeastern University with support from The International Association of Public Health Logisticians, and People that Deliver.

Since its inauguration in 2008, the conference has traveled to various countries around the world (including the United States of America, Germany, Malaysia, Mexico, South Africa, Denmark and United Arab Emirates).

As the world increasingly faces health and humanitarian challenges in numerous communities around the world, it is essential to bring NGOs, private industry, government, academia, and others together to examine and discuss present and future priorities, practices, and strategies surrounding these critical areas. The primary objectives of the conference are to articulate the opportunities and challenges in humanitarian response and global health, both from a public and a corporate/economic perspective, create awareness for innovation and collaboration, and establish priorities for NGOs, corporations, and governments in terms of their strategies, policies, and investments.

The Conference will be hosted in Kigali, which is the capital of Rwanda, and an economic, cultural, and transport hub. Like many other countries around the world, Rwanda has experienced both challenges and great advancements in various areas including internal conflict, health systems, economic progress, and sustainable development. It is a great location to bring together professionals active in the global health and humanitarian sectors around the world.

Sponsorship for the Health and Humanitarian Logistics Conference provides an excellent opportunity for companies to build visibility and express their support and commitment to progress in health and humanitarian systems, for a healthier, happier, and peaceful future. By participating as a conference sponsor, you will reach (250+) professionals who are expected to attend the conference from around the world as well as those who visit the conference website and receive our promotional or post-conference materials. You will also gain visibility through press coverage.

We invite you to become a sponsor for the conference, and maximize your organization’s visibility before, during, and after the conference, through the sponsorship opportunities at various sponsorship levels, listed on the following page.

Please accept our gratitude in advance for partnering with us through your sponsorship of this conference and for enabling us to host the 2019 Health and Humanitarian Logistics Conference.
